still far from overtaking the demand it is reatinue. The estimate for next year is $261,000, and judging from the present year it will no doubt be considerably exceeded. The receipts from postage also show an increase. The rethe action be took in objecting to the pass ing of the estimates until an opportunity had been afforded for public discussion. The hon, gentleman takes no exception to the estimates themselves, on the contrary he say he is well satisfied with them, but as a matter of principle he thought an opportunity ought to be given to the public to consider them The Supplementary Appropriation Bill for 1883 is made up for the most part of items' which have been already voted, and calls for no special remark. Not so with the estimates for the forthcoming year. These are always looked forward to with interest, and the publi is entitled to expect from the Government full explanation and information with regard to the financial position of the colony. The Appropriation Bill for 1885 was read a firs time on Thursday, the 12th instant, and was intended to pass it through its remaining stages at the last meeting of the Council of the 19th inst. When the Bill was introduced it was accompanied by a short re port on the estimates by the Acting Colonial Secretary and Auditor-General, in which it was stated that the increases and decreases on the various items making up the probable revenue had been concisely set forth in a memorandum by the Treasurer, and that a memorandum showing the variations in the expenditure of the various establishments had also been prepared. Neither the estimates themselves nor the memorandums explaining them were accessible until Thursday last, the day when it was intended to pass the Bill. Mr. Evers was therefore fully justified in asking for further delay.

The Governor said he thought it would be found that the estimates formed an ad vantageous budget in every way, and that his object had been to keep down the cost of the establishments on as low a scale as was consistent with officiency, so that the colony might have the more money to spend on the sanitary and other works which are so urgently required. A reference to the estimates themselves justifies these remarks, so far as the expenditure is concerned, inasmuch as a slight saving has been effected. On the other hand, however, the revenue shows a falling off as compared with last year. The receipts for 1883 were $1,289,448, and the probable receipts for the present venr are given as $1,159,264 only, being $54,834 less than the amount estimated, and $129,184 less than the revenue for 1883; but some recovery is expected next year, the estimated revenue for 1885 being $1,212,188. The explanation of the falling off is found in the diminished receipts from the opium monopoly. In 1883 the revenue from this source was $246,449. The estimate for 1884 was $240,000, but the receipts of the first four months of the year have only amounted to $33,369, on which basis it is now calculated the total revenue will be only $133,369, or • over $100,000 short of the amount received in 1883. This falling off is principally due we believe, to the decline of the demand for prepared opium in California and Australia, consequent on the stoppage of emigration to those countries, and also to some extent to the active competition of the Macao farmers. In addition to this the markets named had been previously overstocked, and the trade at present is comparatively stagnant. As improvement is anticipated next year, the $659,402. This sum, the report states, will estimate being put down at $210,000, and the Treasurer in his memorandum says:-"There is reason to hope that the revenue estimated may be collected on opium boiling during 1885." In view of the large loss of this one itemit is satisfactory to find that the total anticipated decline in the revenue this year as compared with that of last year is so small as it is, especially considering the stagnation in trade which has latterly prevailed. The amount set down as the probable revenue from stamps is slightly less than the actual revenue of 1883, being $152,370 as jects. against $153,329, but is in excess of the estimate, which was $150,000. The estimate for next year is the same, and will probably be exceeded to the extent of a few thousand | dy, with the next outward French mail, left. dollars, as was the case last year. The stamp tax, the light dues, junk licences, and registration of cargo boats, are the only items in the estimates which can be said to afford any the I win camp for the purpose of rice growing. critorion as to the state of trade in however, it only reached $7,985, and the prospoken, on the 5th instant, in Banca Straits, the bable total for 1884 is given as $23,885, which shows a falling off from 1883 of $827, or 82,700 tons of foreign shipping visiting the port. The estimate for next year is

This we are glad to learn, is to be done. Having in view the possible opening of the Canton river to foreign trade it is of the greatest importance that Hongkong should be well informed regarding Southern China, especially that portion lying within the Canton river basin.

The Rangoon Times refuses to believe in the so-called reformation of King Thoebaw's government "No reform," says our contemporary, "in the government has been made; nor will any be mide during the present régime. the orders of this infamous ruler. The steamer Anton arrived here from Hollow yesterday afternoon, bringing with her the shipweeked crew of the steamer Marlborough and Mr. Schomburg, of Hollow. We are indebted to the latter gentleman for the following particulars with regard to the wreck. The Mark borough was in charge of a well known Holhow pilot, of good reputation, and the disaster oc curred in fine weather. Capt. Kunath was opinion some time before the accident that the vesselought to be kept further away, and he expressed his opinion to the pilot, but the latter adhered to his own view, and kept on his course. Very soon afterwards the captain's view was found to be the correct one, for the steamer ran full speed on to the rocks, and it was at once evident she was hopelessly fixed. She had not been there long before the Chinese authorities sent them help in the shape of six wer junks to protect the stranded vessel and cargo from looters who were not long in making their anpearance in swarms. A good supply of cargo boats and coolies was promptly obtained from Holhow, and it was hoped that about half her cargo might be saved, but as she was loaded with rice, that which has been below water is no likely to be of much use. At the time M: Schomburg left the wreck, about $20,000 worth of cargohad been salved, and the coolies were stil at work getting out as much as they could. The fore part of the vessel has run up the rocks, and is high and dry, but abaft the funnel she is under water. The greater part of her bottom is knock ed out from the stem to beyond the funnel, and there is no doubt she is a hopeless wreck. Mr Schamburg wishes to bear testimony to the way in which the Chinese authorities rendered every assistance. The six war junks never left the for the current year was $1,213,598, giving wreck and they supplied 14 soldiers to keep a total of $2,280,798, against which has to watch on board her every night. However, in inclusive of extraordinary works, leaving the ing themselves up with the cargo coolies probable assets on the 1st January, 1885, and on one occasion an enterprising lot of pirates got on board, and cleared off with quantity of tools and other easily portable artiprobably suffice for the year's expenditure cles. They were caught before they got far away, however, driven below, and their junk towed in by one of the war vessels. "S. R. C." contributes to the Times of India an interesting account of "Sixty Days' Leave in Java and the Malayan Archipelago," which ho winds up with the following pertinent remarks on the defenceless state of the various British colonial possessions at which he touched. "I say nothing of Bombay, although on that subject much might be written; but Colombo, Penang. and Singapore are practically undefended. Vast sums have been lately and are being faily expended on harbour works at Colombo. If our trade warrants this expenditure, would it not be worth while to protect the receiving port? Cey-Ion would be a splendid pied de terre for any maritime nation capable of molesting India. In the Far East the Straits of Malacca represent the Suez Canal and Singapore Aden; there is no other route for our China trade ex-Page going to the wickets, but the latter was and Java, which I have shown to have been lately dangerously appleaved, or right away via Anstralia and the treacherous isles and complicated navigation of the Malayan Archipelugo. Surely, then, the island of Panang is worth defending? Singapore, which blocks the southwestern entrance of the Straits of Malacca far more effectively than does Aden that of the Red See, and is the colling place and coaling station of the whole world, does not mount a gun worthy the name. And yet no port in all the waters flying the British flag is so capable of easy and comparatively cheep defence. It was not a pleasant sight to see Singapore, as I did, occupied by 6,000 French troops, and to hear their comments and note their astonishment on the defenceless condition of so important a possession. A match between the Australian Eleven and a time has arrived for us to put our house in order for defence, surely we should now look to the fortification of the lower storey windows."
